5. Course Language

◎ GNU does not have an official English track

· Korean is the primary language of instruction, and course offered in English is very limited

· Courses taught in English may refer to the link below for your reference

< https://www.gnu.ac.kr/main/na/ntt/selectNttList.do?mi=16549&bbsId=4526 >

※ Courses not included in the list are conducted in Korean

※ As most major courses are taught in Korean, please ensure that you carefully prepare and submit your 'study plan' to your home university

※ Course offerings may vary each semester, so the link should be used just for reference only

6. Course Registration

◎ Course registration period: one month before the start of the semester(Details TBA via email)

◎ Course registration is a 'first-come, first-served basis'

· Students may not be able to enroll in all the courses they initially planned. Therefore, we strongly recommend preparing backup course options (2nd, 3rd choices) in advance.

· This applies to all students, both domestic and international

◎ In certain countries, access to course registration system may be unstable or unavailable

· students may register courses during the 'course adjustment period', first week of the semester

· However, since it is 'first-come, first-served' basis, please understand that securing your preferred courses may be difficult

◎ GNU uses the U.S. credit system: 1 credit consists of 1 hour coursework per week

※ It is not allowed to register for major courses outside your department

※ Most major courses are taught in Korean, and the dropout rate among international students is relatively high

※ Course registration may be restricted depending on your department, academic year, and prerequisite requirements, and such restrictions can only be confirmed at the time of course registration

※ Please note that no exceptions can be made to increase class capacity or override enrollment limits under any circumstances, even for exchange students

※ We kindly ask you to prepare alternative course plans in case you are unable to enroll in your initially intended courses

7. Note for Graduates

◎ Graduate students are eligible to participate in the exchange program; however, they will be registered in the system as undergraduate students for administrative purposes

※ Regardless of the registration status, exchange students who wish to take graduate level courses must obtain prior approval from the respective course instructor

8. Contact Person

◎ All countries (except China)

- Name : (Mr.) Sanghyun MA
- Tel. : +82 55 772 0286
- Email : mash24@gnu.ac.kr
- Address : Bldg.1 Rm.214, 501 Jinju-daero,
  Jinju-si, Gyeongsangnam-do 52828, Republic of Korea

03 Support

1. Airport pick-up service
2. Orientation
3. Health insurance
4. Buddy program

1. Airport pick-up service

◎ Free airport pickup service will be provided

◎ Pickup date, time and airport may vary each semester

◎ A pre-arrival survey will be sent via email to selected exchange program participants

2. Orientation

◎ An orientation (OT) for international students will be held on the Friday of the week before the semester begins, where we will go over important information

· exact date and time will be provided by the person in charge via an email

3. Health insurance

◎ All international students must obtain an Alien Registration Card (ARC)

◎ After ARC is issued, students will be automatically enrolled in the Korean National Health Insurance (NHI)

· Enrollment in NHI is mandatory for all foreign residents in Korea

· It cannot be refused or canceled under any circumstances, even if students already have health insurance coverage in their home country

◎ Insurance fee must be paid by the student

· Estimated Amount(KRW): 84,150 (each month)

4. Buddy program

◎ Each exchange student will be assigned one Korean student and can receive assistance with the following:

· Course registration and adjustments

· Participating in on-campus events

· Overall support with campus life and daily life in Korea
