I've participated to many events of ITS GE. The one that I remember the most is the cultural camp. It was an incredible week with people from all countries in a different university of Indonesia. We visited a lot of local things (farm, batik, shops, school, etc.). It was a superb opportunity to meet people and to get to know more deeply the local people; what they do; how they live; etc. One of the best friendships were built. What I preferred in Indonesia is the people, their joy of life and welcoming attitude all the time

ITS is in Indonesia which is a very different country than France or Europe in general. I wanted to discover the world, new culture, new food etc. And Indonesia is a country that always attracted me. I didn't have a language barrier within the university as almost everyone can speak English. Regarding to the outside of the university very few people can speak English so there's a need to learn at least the basics in Indonesian.
