Indonesia is a diverse country with rich culture, great food, and friendly people. Surabaya, its second-largest city, is a major business hub with historical sites, modern developments, and a growing public transport system. It's a mix of urban life and local charm.

The academic was high level compared to Malaysia but still I can manage it because of lectures & students over there. During my campus life, I have participate at its Global Unity Fair. I have performed a dance performance with my friends. It's too funny. I really enjoyed it. I strongly recommend ITS, because they need to experience more by academic as well.
