UNIVERSITI MALAYSIA PAHANG

Studying abroad has fueled my thirst for knowledge about different education systems, cultures, and traditions. The moment I set foot in ITS, I was awestruck by its sprawling campus adorned with lush greenery. Surabaya, a bustling metropolis, left an indelible mark on me with its crowded streets brimming with motorcycles.

One of my biggest challenges arose from a programming course, where my lack of prior knowledge posed a significant hurdle. Undeterred, I embraced the challenge head-on, resorting to self-study using online resources and seeking guidance from dedicated lecturers.

Every activity I've participated in thus far has been incredibly exhilarating and enjoyable. I have no regrets about my decision to study here, as it has granted me countless new experiences. The kindness and hospitality shown by the staff and volunteers have made my journey even more remarkable.
