1) INFORMATION ON THE COURSE CONTENT

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The module 'International Marketing and Sales' (IMS) deals with the growing importance of Marketing Management for the success of a product and the company. In many industries the ever increasing product adaption and the fierce intensity of competition is placing specific demands on marketing and sales. The absence of differentiation potentials of the actual product can often be compensated by innovative sales and distribution concepts and channels, customer-focused advice and support, as well as effective processes and systems. At the same time sales plays a fundamental role for complex and innovative products and influences the economic success of a company. Empirical studies show e.g. the high success relevance of the sales process: besides product satisfaction, customer satisfaction in the actual sale and after service is a customer loyalty factor – or the reason for customer churn. As a result, the sales department is gaining strategic importance with the company management.

This module is composed of lectures and tutorials which provide knowledge about the use of international marketing tools. Students will learn how to manage complex international marketing concepts. Different requirements of BtoB and BtoC customer segments, various industries as well as of selling services or products are considered in this module study.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

To provide an introduction to the basics of international marketing

Students should be able to conceptualize an international marketing concept and an international sales strategy
